BUSINESS MEN HOLD BANQUET

Pleasant and Profitable Gathering at Hotel Fuller Greatly Enjoyed

The first banquet of the Business Men's Association was held at Hotel Fuller last Thursday evening. It was a success from every standpoint. Landlord Kelly is entitled to no small amount of praise for his splendid service.

S. B. Gary did his part well as toast master. In the absence of B. R. Lewis, he gave a few well chosen remarks on Our Association Causes and Effects.

Doctor Clarence Richards made a few remarks on the practical side of Sanitary Condition of Business Places. His suggestion well headed would help the entire city.

C. A. Wilson spoke on New Industries—The Possible and Probable. He referred to an article in The New North of a few weeks ago as to the best means of securing new settlers for our city and county. He dwelt upon having an unbiased agent or officer whose business it is to show any new comer all saleable lands in the county. In this way the entire community will be benefitted and the visitor will get the right impression. Mr. Wilson brought forth some facts to prove the possibility to the city in added water power by utilizing the fall of water below Flat Rapids and summed up that added water power means added industries for Rhinelander.

In the absence of C. P. Crosby, F. A. Lowell talked upon General Business Outlook. He showed that crises always have been and always will be and after periods of depression, industries gradually take an upward turn—that, at present there is every indication of a better condition of industries. He also dwelt upon the needs of Rhinelander for a Good Business Outlook and that all citizens should join hands and make advancement and improvement possible—Look forward! It does no good to dwell upon past mistakes.

It is the chief purpose of the Rhinelander Business Men's Association to join for the best interests of the city and community.

The banquet closed with the feeling on all sides that there should be other banquets that the interchange of ideas at these times brings much good to all.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

A movement has been on foot during the past few days to reorganize the Alumni Association of Rhinelander High School. A meeting was held Tuesday evening and the number of Alumni present and the enthusiasm shown were sufficient to encourage those present to elect the following officers: Pres., Lillian Foster; Vice-Pres., Will Wilcox; Sec., Mrs. Woodcock; Treas., Roy White. Committees were appointed and arrangements made for the banquet to be held Saturday evening June 12.

Partly successful efforts have been made at different times to have the Alumni banquet a permanent feature of commencement week, but after several trials enthusiasm waned and the project was given up. It is now hoped that numbers will succeed and that the time is ripe for a permanent organization. As the time is short and the list incomplete it is hoped by the committee that all Alumni will send their names to the secretary without delay. Another meeting is called for next Tuesday evening.

RHINELANDER MAN HONORED

Doctor S. R. Stone of this city was elected president of the Wisconsin Homeopathic Medical Society at its annual meeting at Fond du Lac last week. The doctor has always been an active member of the association and was vice-president last year. G. F. Adams of Kenosha was elected vice-president; F. T. Clark of Wau-pun, secretary and F. E. Brown of Milwaukee was re-elected treasurer. The next annual meeting will be held in Milwaukee.

BASE BALL SUNDAY

Next Sunday afternoon a base ball game will be played at the fair grounds at 9:30 between the Zebras (barbers) and the clerks. Admission ten cents. The amateur games always draw good crowds and are sources of great amusement. No doubt, the game of Sunday will be no exception.

NORTH WISCONSIN AND MICHIGAN SCHEDULE

Two Good Games—An Even Break In the base ball contests Monday at the fair grounds, Bessemer won by a score of 2 to 0 and Rhinelander took the second game by a score of three to two.

Lovers of the national game were very enthusiastic over the splendid ball played by both teams. Those who were not satisfied with the article of ball as played, have little conception of what good ball is.

Bessemer showed vast improvement over a week ago especially in pitching. Many brilliant plays were made by both teams in the two games.

The gate receipts were not up to what was expected but without doubt weather conditions had much to do with the small attendance. The people are warming up on base ball and the management feels that their efforts will be rewarded later.

The schedule of the teams follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Percentage
Ironwood	5	0	1000
Rhinelander	2	2	500
Bessemer	2	3	400
Hurley	1	4	200

Rhinelander plays Ironwood at Ironwood next Saturday and Sunday. Hurley plays Bessemer, Sunday.

CONVENTION IN SESSION.

The Nat. Convention of the S. H. & E. F. of A. is meeting in the city this week. Sessions have been held since Tuesday and it is probable that the convention will remain in session until Saturday night. The city has many visitors or delegates from all over the United States. Many important subjects are being taken up. It is said to be a very interesting meeting.

Friday evening the local S. H. & E. F. of A. banquet the visitors. It is estimated four hundred will be served.

SENIORS PRESENT CLASS PLAY

Comedy Farce and Class Jokes Promise Interesting Material

The Senior class play entitled, "A Case of Suspicion," will be presented at the Grand Opera House, Thursday evening, June 10, at 8 o'clock. The play is well under way and is interesting from start to finish. The plot concerns a group of boys and girls at a boarding school, and the predicaments in which they, some of the faculty, and the servants got mixed up. At the close everything turns out nicely for all concerned.

The same evening the class prophecy will be given. The "Witch Scene" from Macbeth is to be used as the basis, and no end of fun is promised. This is one of the most enjoyable events of an entire graduation. It is the class prophecy that recalls the amusing incidents of the whole High school life, spanning a period of four years.

Reserved seat tickets at Bronson's beginning Monday, June 7.

LAKE GEORGE A POPULAR RESORT.

Again the people of Rhinelander are turning their thro's to camping. Friday and Saturday nearly forty campers visited Lake George.

The Donahue's of Milwaukee looked over their interests there. Their intentions are to build on an addition to their cottage and level and seed the lawn. Boats are now for rent again at Mark's landing. And, as we go to press we learn that recently the lake has been stocked with some of the finest pike in the state. This not only benefits Lake George but also Lake Thompson.

The Hinman cottage at Lake George was the scene of merriment Saturday.

LINDSAY-ELLIOTT

The marriage of Stewart Lindsay of New Holstein to Miss Mary Elliott of this city occurred at Plymouth, Tuesday morning at ten o'clock at the home of the groom's parents. The young couple left for a short trip to Milwaukee and Chicago after which they will be at home at New Holstein, Wis. where Mr. Lindsay is in the drug business. The bride is a well known Rhinelander girl, a graduate of our High School and a general favorite. She has many friends who wish her happiness.

Mr. Lindsay was for some time perscription clerk at Reardon's and after his departure went into business at New Holstein.

Rev. Grant Clark preached the funeral sermon of Clem Graef at Monico, Wednesday morning.

GRAVES OF DEPARTED SOLDIERS DECORATED

Downpour Hastens Return From Cemetery—Exercises Held at Armory And Catholic Church

Memorial Day was observed although a heavy rain set in shortly after the members of the G. A. R., Co. L of the National Guards and many others arrived at the cemetery led by the Military Orchestra dispensing suitable music.

All the graves of departed soldiers were covered with flowers after which the procession returned to the Armory where Rev. Grant Clark gave a fitting address. Below are extracts from same:

It has been forty-four years since General Lee surrendered to General Grant at Appomattox. But the stirring times of the War of the Rebellion are still fresh in the minds of the older members of the present generation and too many of us had fathers or uncles who left their homes and loved ones and in the spirit of lofty patriotism offered themselves as a sacrifice upon their country's altar.

And the thinned ranks of the old veterans themselves are with us still. Their stooping forms and silvered hair evoke from us appreciation and gratitude. And until the last one of these veterans shall have passed to his long rest there is no danger that the American people shall forget to observe memorial day and place their tribute upon the graves of the union soldiers. But what about the long centuries which are to follow? After the last veteran shall have gone home to rest. After the last individual whose recollections extend back to the times of the Civil War shall have passed from the scenes of this life. After all of us who had near relatives in that war shall have departed will there be any memorial day or any monuments to recall their heroism to the minds of the American people?

If the Civil War were a war of great battles merely, and brilliant victories the Americans of coming centuries would doubtless grow indifferent to the courage and heroism of the soldiers of the "sixties."

But such is not the case. The peculiar glory of the Civil War does not consist in the great battles fought and the brilliant victories won, viewed from the standpoint of military science. Vicksburg, and Gettysburg, and Appomattox are names which will always remain enshrined in the hearts of the American people because they represent the turning back of the "tide of fate" which threatened American union and American institutions and the very function of the American government.

In the evening, Doctor Leinfelder gave an appropriate address at St. Mary's church to a large audience including members of the G. A. R. and Company L. He said in part as follows:

"Militia men of Co. L, Friends:—In cheerful compliance with a regulation of your charitable and patriotic association you, my friends, members of the Grand Army of the Republic, are today paying an annual homage of gratitude to the brave men whose patriotism, loyalty and valor are responsible for the stability and permanency and glory of our beloved country.

Truly, a touching and beautiful custom that, of commemorating annually the illustrious deeds of the heroes who died for the preservation of the Union! How meet and just that we give public expression to that feeling of undying gratitude which we entertain towards the brave and valiant soldiers who fought to redeem the republic and to make it forever God's first and best representative of liberty and law and order upon the earth. How fitting and proper, that you, members of the G. A. R. should be empowered to perpetuate this sacred custom.

What wonder, that this custom should become universal; that today Memorial Day is one of the most patriotic days of the year, wherein all classes unite in paying honor to our heroic dead and feel a conscious pride in being able to thus show respect for their memory and the cause for which they fought.

What was there at stake in the Civil War? Even now we can not recall without trepidation the awful significance of the contest. At stake was the cherished union of the states; the strength and life of the country.

At stake was liberty for the world;

the stability of a government of the people, for the people and by the people. If the Union had been disrupted and its shattered fragments laid prostrate over the land, like the broken and desolate columns of once famous temples in Grecian and Roman regions, liberty, shrieking over the ruins, should have hastened back to caverns of gloom, her friends abandoning hope, her enemies exalting and confident; the dissolution of the Union meant a century of retrogression for humanity.

Behold, my friends, the priceless jewels that were at the stake when, on a memorable morning of April a cannon ball swept over the waters of Charleston Harbor, aimed at the star spangled banner, that floated above the walls of Fort Sumpter. The dreary years of America's Civil War were inaugurated, which filled the hearts of freedom's sons with ceaseless and soulrending anxiety. At each rising of the morning's sun the heavens were asked:

O say, can you see by the dawn's early light

What so proudly we halled at the twilight's last gleaming?

O say, does that star-spangled banner still wave

O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

God of Nations! we this evening solemnly thank Thee! All was well. American patriotism was on guard; and the morning came when at Appomattox one flag was unfurled over the contending armies. 'Twas the star-spangled banner: O long may it wave, O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave. They died that the nations might live, we must not pass them over in silence, they are entitled to that meagre dividend on our debt of gratitude which we try to pay by casting flowers upon their graves."

GRAND JURY IN SESSION

First Ever Held in Oneida County—Irregularities to Be Investigated.

The first grand jury of Oneida county is now in session.

Tuesday, court met and excused E. O. Brown who is exempt as a member of the national guard. James Morgan and S. Kelly were discharged as ineligible, they have acted as petit jurors within a year. A. L. Dunn was drawn in place of E. O. Brown and Hans Rodd and Elmer Danfield in place of Messrs Kelly and Morgan. Mr. Danfield is in attendance at the odd fellow's lodge at Janesville consequently out of the jurisdiction of the court. John Didier was drawn in his place. M. R. Sutliff was excused as he has secured an important position with the Robbins Lumber Co. Wm. Hardell was drawn in his place. The following is the full list of jurors; John O. Bernstein, C. F. Barnes, John Hess, C. H. Ball, H. C. Braeger, Chas. L. Nichols, L. Emerling, A. H. Peck, W. E. Brown, J. A. Lamotte, John Lind, Oscar A. Kolden, Morris Meliae, A. L. Dunn, Hans Rodd, John H. Didier, Wm. Hardell.

Attorney H. F. Steele is assisting the district attorney in the grand jury investigation.

The judge instructed the jury at 3 this afternoon and then they went behind closed doors. The jury will choose a foreman, a secretary if they wish one which is not usual and proceed to investigate anything which they feel needs investigating and at the close of the session will bring indictments against any whom they think guilty. All who are indicted are entitled to a fair impartial trial before an open court. In New York all criminal cases are first taken before a grand jury.

In this case the grand jury was called to look into irregularities in the town of Minocqua although they need not confine themselves to any particular cases or locality in the county.

MANY SAD ACCIDENTS

The New North presents to its readers the following brief accounts of accidents taken from different newspapers of the country. One cannot but sympathize with these people who were so painfully injured:

A mischievous boy in Gilead, Ohio, threw a stone and struck Mr. John Perkins in the alleyway last Tuesday.

While Miss Pearl Kinsmore of East Wind, Ind., was coming downstairs Tuesday she slipped and bruised herself on the landing.

Amos Nittlesby of Woolsport, Kan., while harnessing a fractious horse, was kicked just south of the corn crib. He is able to be about again.

Mrs. H. T. Hinrich of Picketown, Wis., let a can opener slip Monday and cut herself badly in the pantry.

While Harold Green of Beulah,

Miss., was escorting Miss Violet Gooph home from a church sociable Saturday night a savage dog set upon them and bit Mr. Green four times in the public square.

Joseph Tutt of Grinnellburg, Iowa, climbed on the roof of his house last week to find a leak slipped and fell, striking upon his back porch and causing serious injuries.

Isalah Trimmer of Dolbury, Neb., was playing with a pet cat Friday, when the animal scratched him on the veranda.

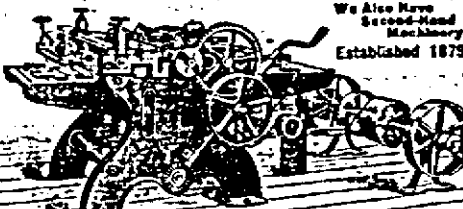

Stomach Troubles

Many remarkable cures of stomach troubles have been effected by Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. One man who had spent over two thousand dollars for medicine and treatment was cured by a few boxes of these tablets. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at F. L. Hinman & Co.'s drug store.

HOWELL PLANER AND MATCHER

"You no doubt find it a hard matter to sell your rough lumber to advantage because most of your customers want it finished. Furthermore you can get twice as much for your finished planed lumber as for the rough. It is a fact that it takes up to 100% more to drop siding, window casing and moldings for which there is no unlimited demand at big prices. The Howell Planer and Matcher does all this work to perfection. You can also make big money by working up all your slabs and sawing material into Lath and Shingles. All you need for this purpose is our Lath Mill and Shingle Machine. We build the best and most up-to-date machines of this kind on the market which we can furnish you at manufacturers prices. Keep your plant running all the time. Remember we build complete Saw Mill Plants from top to bottom at all of our own manufacture. Our new Catalog B is just now out. If you have not received it write to-day. Manufactured by

FROM NEARBY TOWNS

Stevens Point—Jacob Stanka and Matilda Dedrowski, his sister, were recently married at Plover by Justice Clark, on a special permit issued by Judge Murat of this city. The permit and marriage license were secured by the young people through deception and ignorance on the part of Judge Murat and Justice Clark. Both are children of the same mother but were separated many years ago living with different families. There is talk of prosecuting the couple but the trouble will probably end in a separation.

Ashland—The body of a female infant was found by workmen floating in the mill pond of the Schroeder Lumber Company. The body was wrapped up in a newspaper and had been in the water only a short time. The police will exhaust every effort in an attempt to find the parties responsible for the crime.

Ladysmith—Forty track teams will compete for prizes at the tournament of the State Firemen's Association to be held here June 23 to 25. The sum of $225 will be offered in four prizes to bands competing in a contest during the tournament.

Crandon work is progressing rapidly on the large addition to the Veneer mill. The Wisconsin & Northern road will build a spur track to the plant. These improvements show plainly that the Veneer Company does not intend to remove from Crandon as a report earlier in the year stated.

Prentice—Forest fires destroyed 1,500,000 feet of hemlock and hardwood logs and 500 cords of cedar owned by the Roddis Lumber & Veneer Company near Park Falls.

Brokaw—Richard Michaels, night foreman of the Brokaw Paper Mill was shot at Saturday night and barely escaped being shot in the head. The bullet intended for him struck an employe inflicting a painful wound. There is no clue to the would be murder.

Eau Claire—John Dietz has posted notices to the effect that on June 10, he will sell at auction white pine logs sufficient to satisfy a claim of $5,000 for damages caused by the logs lying on his land. These are the remainder of the logs that have been the source of contention.

Merrill—John Laya, the bandit who was wounded during the capture of the bank robbers at Merrill is gaining and will recover. During the operation it was found that the man had appendicitis, so a double operation was performed, relieving the robber of his appendix.

Portage—Several hundred delegates and members are in attendance at the Elks Convention this week. All manner of entertainment is being given the visiting Elks. The election of officers occurs today.

DEER ESCAPE THE WOLVES

Homesteaders living in the deer country in the northern part of Forest county inform the Republican that the lack of snow has saved the lives of hundreds of deer the past winter. The good going in the woods has enabled them to keep out of the way of wolves. For several years scores of half eaten carcasses of deer killed by wolves would be found in the spring, but this spring none are visible. If present conditions continue the hunting will be better next fall than for several seasons past.—Crandon Republican.

Of Interest to Farmers and Mechanics

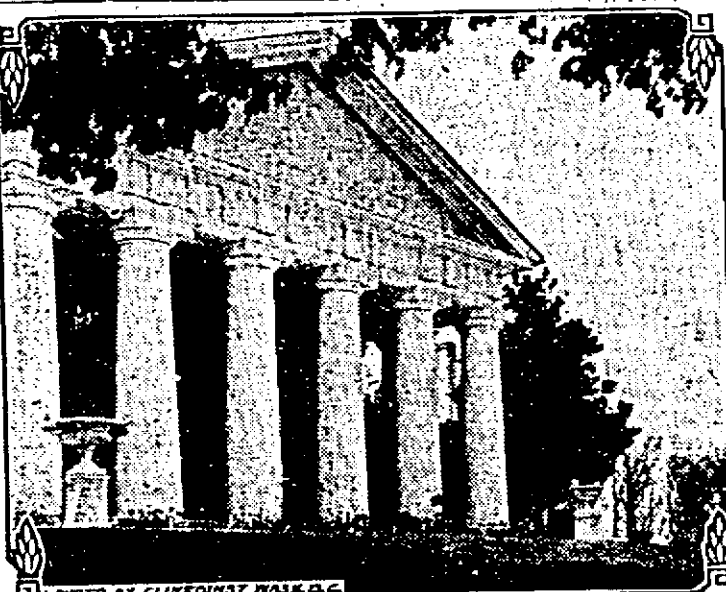

Farmers and mechanics frequently meet with slight accidents and injuries which cause them much annoyance and loss of time. A cut or bruise may be cured in about one-third the time usually required by applying Chamberlain's Liniment as soon as the injury is received. This liniment is also valuable for sprains, soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. There is no danger of blood poisoning resulting from an injury when Chamberlain's Liniment is applied before the parts become inflamed and swollen. For sale by F. L. Hinman & Co.

SPOT IN ARLINGTON CEMETERY WHERE RESTS BODY OF MAJOR L'ENFANT.

After resting for sixty-four years in an unmarked grave the body of Major Pierre Charles L'Enfant, the engineer who laid out the original plans for Washington, was exhumed and buried in Arlington cemetery. The coffin was placed in the rotunda of the capitol, where it remained in state for three hours before the final burial ceremony. The grave of the famous engineer is only a few rods from the magnificent colonial front of the Lee home and is surrounded by the tombs of many of the nation's most illustrious men.

ENTERS MEET

Donald Vaughan will enter the Interscholastic Meet at Ripon Saturday. He left for Ripon today. Donald will enter for the 100 yard dash, the 220 yard dash, and the 440 yard run. As Vaughan is fleet of foot it is hoped he may make good.

NATURE TELLS YOU

As Many a Rhinelander Reader Knows Too Well

When the kidneys are sick, Nature tells you all about it. The urine is nature's calendar. Infrequent or too frequent action; Any urinary trouble tells of kidney ills.

Rhinelander people testify to this. James Leonard, 502 Fifth St., Merrill, Wis., says: "When I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, I was suffering from backache and had been for six months. I had tried several remedies, but was unable to receive relief. I saw from the condition of the secretions that my kidneys were disordered and deciding to try a kidney remedy, I procured Doan's Kidney Pills as I have seen them highly recommended. By the time I had finished the contents of one box I was entirely free from pain. I have had no return of the trouble since."

Pleanty more proof like this from Rhinelander people. Call at J. J. Reardon's drug store and ask what customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition formally opened yesterday when President Taft set into motion the great machinery operated by the golden key installed at Washington. Unlike most expositions, it is said that it was virtually complete when the gates were swung yesterday.

The legislature at Madison seems to be about as active as it has been all winter doing nothing. We are not surprised that the wives are crying "Husband, dear husband come home to me now." The people are equally anxious to have them come home. This legislature will go down as the do nothing legislature with the ability they show perhaps that is the fortunate thing.

The farmers' institute to be held in the city next Monday is for every intelligent citizen. The backbone of this nation is the farmer. This country needs farmers, the more intelligent we become on farming the better prepared we will be to get farmers to settle in this community, and cooperate with them here. Let's turn out and show we are alive to the needs of the people and ready to assist in overcoming those needs.

DESTROY DANDELIONS
This is the time of year when dandelions make their rapid stride on other vegetation. Consequently it is the time when they should be destroyed. It is better to dig them out by the roots but if this is not done the yellow blossoms should be picked so that they will not ripen into seeds to spread everywhere. Destroy the dandelions so that in later years they will not run out other vegetation as is the case in some of the older countries.

HERALD SOLD
Last Saturday a deal was consummated by which the Rhinelander Herald changed hands. Henry Osborne who has had charge of it for so many years purchased the plant. Mr. Osborne and Mr. C. F. Barnes who now has a job office on Stevens street form a co-partnership and the combined plant will be run in the building of the Herald office. It is expected that the building now occupied by Mr. Barnes will be used again for the steam laundry.
Mr. Barnes is a newspaper man with much experience. He established the New North in 1892 and owned it several years.

While we have always had the most pleasant relations with Mr. and Mrs. Shelton, the former owners of the Herald, if the paper was to be sold we are glad to see it have the present ownership and believe the same pleasant newspaper relations will exist. Messrs Osborne and Barnes are successful newspaper men and printers which insures success from the start.

MADISON LETTER
Last week the legislative sessions were marked by numerous clashes, personal encounters and brilliant debates. Many bills were passed, more were put to sleep and many others advanced. It is reported the agony will end in two more weeks; most of the legislation will be completed at the end of this week while the most important matters will be placed in the hands of committees which will make exhaustive investigations and report to the next legislature or at the special session which may be called next winter.
The prison twine plant was one of the chief bones of contention and the cause of an animated discussion, especially in the senate. The bill was opposed by Senator Hudnell, one of the best debaters in the upper house, who made a two-hour speech against it. The measure was defended by Senators Browne, Sanborn, Owen and others, who riddled the arguments of the opposition and won by an overwhelming vote. Senator Owen made the fight for this bill two years ago carried it in the senate by a narrow margin. The assembly became deadlocked on the measure after a two hours debate and the question comes up for final decision Tuesday. The International Harvester Co. has had a strong lobby at the Capital for many weeks and their methods are not above suspicion. A number of members received telegrams and letters urging them to vote against the bill but on investigation found that the parties whose names were attached to the communications knew nothing about the matter. These fake telegrams are very popular with the interests and old members of the legislature are quite familiar with these methods.

Another interesting fight in the senate was precipitated when the Terminal Taxation bill came up for passage. This measure was championed by Senators Sanborn and Hudnell and bitterly opposed by Owen and Whitehead. Senator Owen made an able, comprehensive speech for which he was highly complimented by friends and opponents of the bill. Senator Whitehead made a characteristic plea, impassioned and eloquent, in which he said that while he had not been an admirer of the inventor of the roll call (LaFollette) he would that man were governor now for he knew what would happen to this bill if it were laid before him.

The Austin bill, so-called, which aims to create a "Board of License Revocations," has passed the assembly. The bill provides for a board to be appointed by the governor for a term of ten years, consisting of five members at a salary of $3,000 a year each, together with necessary expenses. The duty of this board shall be to hear and determine all complaints against liquor dealers. It is a fine position and the nucleus of one of the prettiest political machines ever conceived. It will meet with opposition in the senate.

The legislative correspondent of the Milwaukee Sentinel sums up the work done by the present legislature and finds nothing accomplished according to the platform pledges. It is too true. One might think the old promise-breaking gang was back in the saddle for all they have to show for this long session. Not one of the numerous platform pledges has been fulfilled. A few of the pledges have been assigned to special committees, which is a practical disposition of them for the present and a better one than if they had been acted upon by indifferent committees at the present time, but there are several other pledges that have not been fulfilled and there is no prospect that they will be. How different is this from the last session in which every pledge was made good.

The Twesme bill, which provides for an amendment to the primary law so that voters at the primaries must call for the party ballot they desire to vote, is a long step back to the ward boss days when voters were led like cattle to the polls. Among other things the law provides that "Any voter desiring to vote at a primary election shall demand of the ballot clerk the party ticket of the party for the candidates of which he desires to vote. The ballot clerk shall thereupon, in a voice sufficiently audible to be distinctly heard in the election booth, state that the elector (naming him), asks for a ticket of a certain party, (naming it), and shall further ask, 'Are there any objections?'" If this bill becomes a law it will only be necessary for the political boss to pay the simple voters, and there are a lot of this kind in all the large cities, the stipulated price and follow him into the booth to learn that he has called for the proper ballot. It is not necessary to state that no friend of the primary voted for this bill and that it will not pass the senate.

GAS DEMONSTRATION GIVES SATISFACTION
Scientific Cook Shows Gas as Labor Saving, Money Saving Device

The Onelda Gas Co. is giving a fine demonstration of the use of gas in cooking, in the Congregational church basement this week. Mr. Dewitt Harr, State Sales Mgr. of Estate Store Co. has been instrumental in obtaining the services of Miss Norton, a practical and scientific demonstrator in the use of gas as a medium for economical and quickly prepared meals. Miss Norton has showed that it pays to use gas if only from the stand point of time, as a dinner, prepared from start to finish, including roast, vegetables and desert consumed only one and one half hours. She has prepared different menus each day, showing the different facilities of the range. Her object has been to give the ladies of the city hints and suggestions as to the economical and practical use of gas in cooking and those who have taken advantage of the demonstrations have expressed themselves enthusiastically. She prepares a fish dinner tomorrow.

STAVING OFF A VOTE.

A Candid Explanation by the Speaker of the House.

On one occasion in the house of representatives an unusually large number of Republicans happened to get hungry about the same time, while for some unknown reason the Democratic appetite did not require attention. Catching Speaker Cannon napping, the Democratic floor leader, perceiving that he had a majority, called up a bill and pushed it to a vote. The speaker strung out the voting in all of the various ways known to him, but at the end of the second roll call the Democratic votes were still in the majority. Though the rules of the house expressly forbade such a thing, a third roll call was ordered by the speaker, a proceeding which called out a red-hot protest from one of the Democrats.

leaders, who demanded to know the reason for the speaker's extraordinary action. The speaker gently advised the protesting Democrat.
"The chair will inform the gentleman," said he. "The chair is hoping that a few more Republicans will come in."
A gale of strictly nonpartisan laughter swept over the house, and before it had entirely subsided enough Republicans had been rounded up by the hurrying scouts to fulfill the speaker's wish so candidly expressed.—Success Magazine.
Didn't Court Publicity.
"One of the funniest incidents in court I have ever witnessed," says a Kansas City lawyer in Harper's Weekly, "occurred in a petty court of our city. An old offender had been haled before the magistrate. After a conference with the clerk of the court his honor began sternly to address the culprit as follows:
"I gather that you have already been sentenced ten times for violent assault, disorderly conduct, attempted—"
"Whereupon, to the amazement of all in court, the prisoner hastily interposed with:
"I beg your honor's pardon, but would you mind not speaking so loud? My intended mother-in-law is in court, and it might damage my prospects."
False Colors.
Sir Augustus Harris one week end took a cab in London for Charing Cross. He had painted in black letters on box and kit bag, "Augustus Harris, T. R. D. L." They stood, of course, for "Theater Royal, Drury Lane." But the caddy thought that they stood for some learned degree that here was an innocent, helpless scientist whom he could easily bilk out of an exorbitant fare. So on reaching Charing Cross the caddy frowned down at Sir Augustus and said darkly:

"A good 5 shillins' worth, sir."
But Sir Augustus laughed and handed the man one and six, the exact fare plus a tuppenny tip.
The caddy looked at the money and sneered bitterly.
"Garn!" he said. "An' ye call yerself a T. R. D. L. Why, ye ain't no more a T. R. D. L. than wot I am!"
When Mind Acts on Mind.
The most potent influence that ever can rest upon the mind is that of another mind acting upon it. This is the highest influence of which we know anything at present. There is nothing, for example, that has power on your thought like a thinker thinking on you, as it were, or thinking to you. Nothing so arouses the affection as a great heart near yours. Like a fire, it sends out its warmth to all that are near it, whether they want it or not.—Henry Ward Beecher.
Alkemy was originally based upon the idea that material substances were base and that by a series of tortures and eliminations the good or noble part could be separated from the base and that finally the purest of all substances, gold, would be the result.

For Twenty-Six Years

Mrs. Lamaster, of Kentucky, Suffered with Internal Catarrh and was Finally Relieved by Peruna.

MRS. W. W. LAMASTER.

"I SUFFERED for twenty-six years with bladder and kidney trouble, and being advised to give Peruna a trial, I did so, and am thankful to say that eight bottles of Peruna and three bottles of Manalin entirely cured me of that trouble, and I am as well as ever."—Mrs. W. W. Lamaster, 3127 McAtee Ave., Louisville, Ky.

Catarrh Causes Kidney Disease.

Catarrh is a frequent cause of kidney disease. The pelvis of the kidneys, as well as the tubules, is lined with mucous membrane, and is therefore subject to catarrhal congestion. Sometimes the catarrh is so slight as to cause no attention. Other times it leads up to very serious conditions.

Any remedy capable of mitigating the catarrh is a much more rational treatment than to give palliatives that only relieve the patient of one or more disagreeable symptoms.

It is claimed for Peruna that it is an internal systemic catarrh remedy, and reaches the catarrh in whatever organ it happens to be located.

"I was cured of a severe attack of inflammation of the bowels by taking Peruna. I am glad to recommend Peruna to any one."—Mrs. J. J. Eross, 533 Water St., San Antonio, Texas.

Breaking It Gently.
Pat had been delegated by his fellow employees to tell Mrs. Casey the news of her husband's accidental death. On the way to the Casey home Pat pondered on how to break the news to the widow. Finally he hit on what to him seemed a most humane way of preparing Mrs. Casey for the sad news.

Knowing the violent hatred which Mrs. Casey as well as all loyal Irishmen have for the A. P. A., he said on greeting the woman:

"Ah, Mrs. Casey, it is sad news I have to bring you. Your husband, Mike, has turned A. P. A. The scoundrel, I hope he is dead."

"He is," answered Pat.

No Returning.
Remember, three things come not back:
The arrow sent upon its track—
It will not swerve, it will not stay.
Its speed; it flies to wound or slay.
The spoken word, so soon forgot
By thee, but it has perished not;
In other hearts 'tis living still.
And doing work for good or ill.
And the lost opportunity
That cometh back no more to thee.
In vain thou weepst, in vain dost
yearn.
Those three will nevermore return.
—From the Arabic.

The Senator's Ticket.
A newly elected senator was on his way to Washington. He was thinking great things when the conductor came into the car with his characteristic
"Have your tickets ready." The senator began to fumble in one pocket, then another. When the conductor came to him he was still looking for the ticket.

"Did you have it when you got on?"
inquired the conductor, somewhat impatiently.

"Of course I did. This isn't my first trip."

"Then you couldn't have lost it?"

"Couldn't have lost it?" replied the irate politician. "H—I, I lost a bass drum once."—Lippincott's.

To the Egress.
When P. T. Barnum wanted to get rid of a crowd that was lingering too long at the show he would have a big sign, "To the Egress," put up at one of the side doors. Immediately there would be a rush that way, and, hurrying to see that rare beast, the "egress," the crowd found itself outside the tent.

What Byron Thought.
Lord Byron, who was supposed to be a callous sort of person so far as caring for the world's verdict was concerned, is said to have been completely wretched at the first production of his play, "Dearest 'Than Life'."

It was at this performance that a long delay occurred at the end of the second act, filling the audience with impatience and the distinguished author with dread.

"What in the name of heaven can they be doing back there?" asked a critic, meeting Byron in the lobby of the theater trying to calm his troubled spirit by walking nervously about.

"I don't know," moaned the poet,
with a melancholy gesture of despair.
A moment later the sound of a saw
at work behind the curtain was heard,
and the critic, returning to the play-
wright's side, inquired:

"And what do you imagine that to be, my lord?"

Byron's sense of humor came to his rescue instantly.

"I think," he said, "they must be cutting out the last act."

A Crusher.
During the encampment of several regiments of British soldiers in a certain district the wood and turf used for cooking purposes were carted by the neighboring farmers. One day a donkey cart full of turf was brought in, the driver being a country lad. As a regimental band was playing, he stood in front of the donkey and held the animal tightly by the head. Some of the "smart ones" gathered round, highly pleased, and the wit of the party
asked why he "held his brother so tightly." The reply was crushing:
"I'm afraid he might resist."

What You Are Doing.
Where you are is of no moment, but only what you are doing there. It is not the place that enables you, but you the place, and this only by doing that which is great and noble.—Per-trarch.

An Afterthought.
A filthy fellow applied for a position as porter with a large concern where help was badly needed. The manager looked him over doubtfully. Finally he handed him a half dollar.

"Go uptown and take a bath," he told him. "Then come back and maybe I'll be able to take you on."

The fellow started for the door.

"And, oh, by the way," the manager
called after him, "if there's any change left take another bath."

Fitted Too Well.
A clergyman from an interior town
married a woman from whom he received a dowry of $10,000 and a prospect of more. Shortly afterward, while occupying the pulpit, he gave out a hymn, read the first verse and proceeded to read the fifth, commencing, "Forever let my grateful heart";
then he hesitated and exclaimed, "The choir will omit the fifth verse." Some of the congregation read the verse for themselves and smiled as they read:
Forever let my grateful heart
His boundless grace adore,
Which gives ten thousand blessings now
And bids me hope for more.

COLLECTING A DEBT.

Old Billy Bulger's Method Involved a Division of Labor.

"Got any work this mornin', Mistah Boyd?" asked old Billy Bulger, safe in the knowledge that no work would be entrusted to him.

"No," was the response, and then,
before Billy could ask for the customary contribution: "But wait a minute. Lawyer Phillips has owed me $20 for twenty years. Collect it and I'll give you half." And the merchant, knowing how bad was the debt,
winked at a waiting customer.

The old man found the lawyer in the middle of a group of prospective clients and influential citizens. Thrusting through the group, he called in stentorian tones:

"Mistah Boyd, suh?"

"Well?" queried the lawyer, much amused.

"Mistah Boyd done tell me that you've owed him $20 for about a hundred years, and he wants to know kin
you pay him, suh?"

"The lawyer hurried to Billy's side.
"You idiot!" he said sotto voce.
"Do you want to ruin my business?
Here!" And he thrust a ten dollar bill into the old man's hand.

Back to the merchant toddled the old man.

"Well, Billy," said the merchant,
"did you get it?"

The old man grinned.

"I got my half, all right," he chuckled. "But you'd better look out
when you go back to get your half.
He's right smart hot over it, suh!"—

His Title.
A newspaper man once asked the late J. K. Hudson whether he should call him "major" or "general."

Hudson was a major in the civil war and was made a brigadier general in the Spanish war, but in the latter conflict he did not get into active service.

"Call me major," said Hudson in reply to the question. "I was vaccinated for general, but it didn't take."

Weekly Art.
Frederic Remington, the illustrator,
fresh from a western trip on which he had been making studies of Indians and cowpunchers and things outdoors, met an art editor who insisted upon dragging him up to an exhibition of very impressionistic pictures.

"You don't seem enthusiastic," remarked the editor as they were coming out. "Didn't you like them?"

Remington, remembering what he had been told as a boy, counted ten before replying. Then:

"Like 'em! Say! I've got two malden nuns in New Rochelle that can knit better pictures than those!—Everybody's."

We Touch One Another on All Sides.
No individual can be happy unless the circumstances of those around him be so adjusted as to conspire with his interest, for in human society no happiness or misery stands unconnected and independent. Our fortunes are interwoven by threads innumerable. We touch one another on all sides. One man's misfortunes or success, his wisdom or his folly, often by its consequences reaches through multitudes.—
Blair.

Insult Plus Injury.
"Well, did he pay you?" asked the wife of a dentist who had been to collect a bill for a full set of false teeth that he had made for a man almost a year before.

"Pay me?" growled the dentist. "Not only did he refuse to pay me, but he actually had the effrontery to gnash
at me—with my teeth!"—Everybody's.

An Interesting Drive.
An eminent Irishman, famous as a historian and man of letters, arrived
one morning at Dublin in a brown study. Scarcely had his feet touched land when he was seized, bag and baggage, by an alert car driver, who soon
had the dreaming gentleman ensconced on a side of his car. They drove off at high speed and made a tour of the principal streets. They doubled on their tracks, dashed round corners and appeared in most unexpected places, all in the most aimless fashion and at a breakneck speed. At the end of an hour's brilliant car driving the fare woke up from his reverie in amazement.

"In the name of heaven, Pat," he exclaimed, "where are we going?"

"Och," said Pat, "the sorta one of me knows, your honor, but we're driv-
in' like blazes to it anyway!"

A Good Word For Him.
An old Scotchwoman was famous for speaking kindly. No sheep was so dark but she could discover some white spot to point out to those who could see only its blackness. One day a gossiping neighbor lost patience with her and said angrily, "Woman, ye'll hae
a guld word to say for the deevil himself!"

Instantly came the reply, "Weel, he's a vera industrious body!"

She Did.
One day, while performing for the inmates of an orphan asylum, Kellar,
the magician, walked up to a sedate
little girl in the audience and asked,
"Will my little lady please examine this handkerchief?"

The blushing child did as she was told.

"Now," proceeded the conjurer, "we will see if we can find in it some candy," and, slowly rolling the handkerchief into a ball, he held it out to the small maid.

"Please blow on it," he said.

The next moment there was a shriek of laughter from all sides. The child had taken the request literally and had noisily performed the habitual rite.—

Aunt Anna's Wisdom.

By GRACE ETHEL WEEKES.
(Copyright, 1924, by American Press Association.)

Miss Eleanor Hodges when barely seventeen had a lover, George Bergen,
two years her senior. Miss Hodges, being an orphan, was brought up by an aunt who was a very wise woman.
As soon as she heard of the affair she called the lovers into her boudoir and asked to them:

"In loving each other you two children are but following a law of nature. But you must have forethought.
Neither of you have any means, and you, George, have but a meager salary. It is all right if you will be patient. Far be it from me to object to this match because neither of you are rich. What I wish for you to do is to wait till George has a salary that will enable you to live without having the wolf continually prowling about your door. Besides this, you should have a little sum laid up in case of sickness or other misfortunes. There is one other matter that should be provided,
though I don't think it absolutely necessary—that is, a nest egg, a snowball, neither the principal nor interest of which is to be spent. That is for old age and the children when you leave them."

Eleanor was convinced; George demurred. He said he thought it better to be married and fight the battle together from the start. The adviser smiled upon him sympathetically and drew a picture of married life with no provision against the thousand and one expenses that come up continually to make every day a horror. George shuddered. Then he went away resolved to devote every hour of his existence (when not sleeping) to secure all these provisions, including that "snowball."

He kept his word. In the morning
he was the first man at the store where he was employed and in the evening the last to leave. He not only did his own work, but that of every one else who would permit. He opened a savings bank account and Saturday night deposited everything he could possibly get on without spending during the following week, and every Saturday he made his estimate for the next less in order that his deposit might be more. His passbook became, next to Eleanor, the all important thing of his life. In a year he had several hundred dollars drawing interest.

One day his employer told him of a chance to buy some shares of stock very cheap. He drew his money from the savings bank and bought three shares. Soon after he was paid a dividend. Here again was money producing money. He put his dividends into the savings bank, where they drew interest, and cut his expenses to the quick. In a few months he had enough in bank to buy two more shares of stock.

"Oh, George," said Eleanor when informed of all this, "Aunt Anna will be delighted, especially as you are acting on her advice. What a level head she has! At this rate perhaps we may be married in another year."

"Possibly, but since we have begun to act as your aunt advised we should complete the proposition. There is the salary for necessary expenses and, say, 10 per cent to be saved. There is the fund for unforeseen contingencies and the fund for old age. Your aunt said
we must be patient."

"So we will," said the girl.

Another year passed, with more additions to the fund than had been expected, and George's salary was raised to a sufficiency for a young couple to live plainly. The next year the contin-gent fund could easily have been put aside, but in that event George would have to begin at the bottom for the "snowball." The desirable thing was to wait till the latter was big enough to furnish the former and a working capital besides. This George decided upon, and Eleanor was disappointed.

When Eleanor was twenty-one George had a fair salary, a contingent fund and his "snowball." Aunt Anna thought they might be married without transgressing the laws of prudence, but George had his eye on some real estate that could be bought very cheap and preferred to wait another year. The rental would pay off a mortgage there was on it. He bought the property before the year was out, but figured that by two years more of careful expenditure he could pay off the mortgage and have the property intact.

Eleanor objected to these constant deferments, but George wouldn't give up his plan. He said they could live in the house when paid for rent free, and he could have what the rental of a home would be to make more money with.

When George was twenty-eight years old he was considered very well to do,
but he had the reputation of being one of the meanest young men in the place where he lived. At this time he made several neat turns in a business way, clearing a considerable sum. For the first time he failed to report his gain to his sweetheart. Nor did he confide
it to any one else.

And so the years went on, but the wedding came not. "I feel so sorry for that Miss Hodges," said a lady to another. "I understand she's been engaged for twelve or fifteen years to some one who isn't able to marry her."
"Nonsense," said the other. "Her lover is rich. That horrid old aunt of Eleanor's inoculated him when he was very young with the demon of greed.
He won't marry because he knows that he must keep up an establishment commensurate with his reputed wealth, and that would interfere with his miserly practices."

Eleanor is now fifty and an old maid.

WASHINGTON NEWS

Lumber, sugar, the agricultural schedule and the continued effort of Senators to secure information upon the bill were the features of the tariff discussion during the past week. Notwithstanding the assaults of Senator Bristow upon the sugar schedules which was a masterly effort and was not adequately answered, the sugar rates were maintained as reported. Free Lumber went down and out on the general trading done by Chairman Aldrich while the agricultural schedule was not fought seriously by anyone except Senator Root of New York who opposed the 30 cent duty on barley. Mr. Root's effort to reduce it failed.

On April 13 the Senate Committee on Finance received from the State Department a report which was sent by the German Government showing the average cost to many German industries. Early in the week Senator LaFollette secured the passage of a resolution asking that a copy of this report be transmitted the Senate. There was a hurrying and scurrying about, as it appeared, to find some ground upon which to oppose the LaFollette resolution but it was not opposed. The State Department informed the Senate that it had transmitted the document to the Finance Committee and Senator Nelson, when the letter of the President transmitting this information was read, declared that he was surprised the Finance had withheld that report.

Senator Aldrich endeavored to make it appear that the information was of little value. Mr. LaFollette declared that the Senate was entitled to any information obtainable that would enable it to measure the difference between labor cost at home and abroad.

He asserted further that he had been informed that the fact the report has not been given the Senate for its consideration has been the subject of criticism and of some feeling on the part of the German government in view of the fact that it had been supplied information in response to a request of this government.

Mr. LaFollette declared that as received the statement concerning wages in Germany had been signed by the German manufacturers supplying it, but that they had been erased.

Mr. Aldrich then explained that the statement had been transmitted by the German government on the condition that it should not be printed, and such testimony was, he said, worthless from his point of view.

There was a general discussion, Senators Depey and Carter coming to the relief of Aldrich in the attempt to make it appear that the document was of no value but Senator LaFollette stuck to it and finally the situation was relieved by the appearance of Mr. Latta, assistant secretary to the President with a bulky communication which proved to be the document. It was laid before the Senate and ordered to be printed.

Senator Beveridge made a speech on May 25 in which he called attention to the declarations of President Taft, made before and during the campaign to show that the President is in favor of revision downward. Some of the quotations from Mr. Taft were as follows:

"Another thing the Republican party pledges itself to, fixes the date when it will do it, and tells you how it will do it, is the revision of tariff."

"The Dingley tariff has served the country well, but its rates have become generally excessive. They have become excessive because conditions have changed since its passage in 1896. Some of the rates are probably too low, due also to the change of conditions."

"But on the whole, the tariff ought to be lowered in accordance with the Republican principles and the policy that it has always upheld of protection of our industries."

From his speech at Milwaukee, Sept. 24.

"It is my judgment that a revision of the tariff in accordance with the pledge of the Republican platform will be, on the whole, a substantial revision downward, though probably will be a few exceptions in this regard."

From his speech at Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 25.

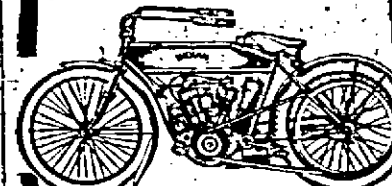

"It is my judgment that a revision of the tariff in accordance with the pledge of the Republican party will be, on the whole, a substantial revision downward though there probably will be a few exceptions in this regard."

"As the temporary leader of the party I do not hesitate to say with all the emphasis of which I am capable that if the party is given the mandate

THE 1909 INDIAN

This year's model represents the highest achievement in the history of the motorcycle.

The 1909 Indian is equipped with a new band brake, the ordinary coaster brake being considered unsafe on machines capable of developing such great speed. The band brake is larger and stronger than heretofore and is built in the same manner as many automobile brakes. It is instantly adjusted from the outside.

The "Indian" holds all speed records from 1 to 100 miles besides having scores of trophies won in speed and endurance contests in all parts of the world. It has proven itself the best machine for every purpose.

It is better to ride an INDIAN than to be in the same manner as many automobile brakes. It is instantly adjusted from the outside.

MAN PAST FIFTY IN DANGER

Men past middle life have found comfort and relief in Foley's Kidney Remedy, especially for enlarged prostate gland, which is very common among elderly men. L. E. Morris, Dexter, Ky., writes: "Up to a year ago my father suffered from kidney and bladder trouble and several physicians pronounced it enlargement of the prostate gland and advised an operation. On account of his age we were afraid he could not stand it and I recommended Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the first bottle relieved him, and after taking the second bottle he was no longer troubled with this complaint."

Jefferson's Love of Quiet.

Mr. Jefferson's love of home and family was very great. He loved the retirement from public life those summer months afforded him. I remember his speaking of his embarrassment when the medical students in Baltimore one night after a performance at the stage door of the theater unharassed the horses, took their places and, with cheers and laughter, drew him to his hotel. As Mr. Jefferson stepped out of the open carriage, his arms full of flowers, he said to the students: "Thank you, gentlemen. And believe me when I say it—I have never before felt so like a prima donna."

The Smart Verger.

The church possessed a valuable Bible, which was only used on Sundays, says a writer in an English magazine, speaking of an English country parish. During the week it was kept in a box which rather curiously formed the stand upon which the reader of the lessons stood. On one occasion when this was being shown to a visitor the remark was made that it did not seem very reverent for even a clerkman to tread upon the Bible. "Pardon me," the old verger replied. "In this church, sir, we take our stand upon the Scriptures."

TO SELECT WOODMAN QUEEN

Voting Contest To Decide Most Popular Lady in Tomahawk

"Who is the most popular lady in Tomahawk?" This is a question which will be uppermost in the minds of the ladies and their friends during the next three weeks and a half, as the contest for a Woodman queen for the picnic of July 3 is on. A voting contest for a queen has been arranged by the picnic committee to decide the momentous question. Tickets will be on sale Monday, May 31, at various business places. The tickets may be voted personally or by mail. Tickets for ten votes each will be sold for 10 cents. The ballot box will be at the Standard store where also will be kept a bulletin board upon which the number of votes for each candidate will be posted every evening during the contest.

The voting will close Thursday evening, June 24, at 8 o'clock, at which time the result will be announced. The successful contestant will ride at the head of the parade in a beautifully decorated automobile. In the evening she will lead the grand march at the Woodman ball at the opera house. (The money derived from the contest will be used for decorations and other necessary expenses connected with the picnic.)

Arrangements are also being made to have each Woodman camp in the surrounding cities and towns elect a young lady as a maid of honor to the Woodman queen, and to ride with her in state in the parade.

Other preparations for the picnic are progressing. United States Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa has been invited to deliver the address of the day. William Jennings Bryan, to whom an invitation was extended, replied in a personal letter that he was unable to come, as he already had the date filled.

One thousand dollars will be given away in prizes, $250 of which will be given in prizes to competing Woodmen drill teams. There will be free launch rides on the rivers for visitors. The program for the day will include horse races, baseball, boat races, swimming contests, log rolling, athletic contests and band contests. Dancing will be indulged in during the day and evening.

A class of 100 will be adopted by the Woodmen Friday evening, July 2. The Merrill Forester team, champions of the state, will have charge of the floor work.—The Tomahawk Leader.
